Club Fair in Student Union Today at 11

The annual Club Fair opens its doors at 11 o'clock this morning in the Student Union. The Fair, which lasts until 2 o'clock, offers every student a chance to talk to club representatives and join a club.

All clubs on campus will be represented. The Fair will acquaint new students with the activities of these clubs. Students are invited to join the club of their choice.

The clubs are grouped into three types: service, subject and special interest. The following clubs will be taking part and signing up new members:

Service Clubs

Circle K, sponsored by the Kiwanis, is dedicated to service. They carry on food and clothing drives for the needy. Advisors: Hinwood, Edman.

Hogans is a men's club which promotes a variety of activities and service projects, including a $200 scholarship for a graduating sophomore. Advisors: Nelson, Oswald.

Subject Clubs

Band Club promotes better music on and off campus, and is open to MPC band members. Advisor: Dr. Hubbard.

Business Club is formed like a corporation, and sponsors a trip to San Francisco business offices annually. Advisor: Riley, Reich.

Electronics Club is for any student interested in electronics and who wishes to learn about that field. Advisors: James, Eldridge.

Photo Club is open to all interested in photography, and offers chances to hear guest speakers, view slides and discuss problems. Advisor: C. Smith.

Police Club enables police trainees to visit local and metropolitan police agencies. Advisor: Spindler.

Press Club welcomes students interested in newspaper work. Advisors: Holmgren, Bibler.

Student California Teachers Association plan lectures, field trips to learn more about the teaching profession. Advisor: McCuen.

Woman's Athletic Association is open to women interested in sports. It participates in playdays with other colleges and in intramural sports. Advisors: Elliott, D. Smith.

Special Interest

Flying Club is open to anyone interested in aviation. The club has its own plane. Advisor: Revoir.

International Club enables foreign and American students to meet on campus. Advisors: Hamann, Machado.

Jazz Club offers activities to increase appreciation of jazz forms. Advisor: Dr. Hubbard.

Monterey Christian Union is a non-denominational group which studies the Bible and its philosophies. Advisor: Dr. Johnson.

Newman Club is a chapter of an international Catholic group formed to promote good fellowship. Advisor: Giordano.

Westminister Club is an international club with a chapter on campus featuring discussion on topics of general interest. It is sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, but membership is nondenominational. Advisor: Edman.

'We Need Love,' Mumford Contends In Telling of His Fight Against Machines

By CHARLOTTE JACKSON

"I've been fighting the machines personally," said Lewis Mumford, comparing his battle to Robert Frost's battle against the locomotive. Mr. Mumford added that Frost's throwing of turtle eggs at a locomotive had "about the same effect" as his actions.

Mr. Mumford was the first speaker in the 1961-62 MPC Evening Lecture Series. He has never accepted a radio or television appearance request — "To see if I could survive without this medium," he said. He also continues to drive a 1947 model car.

"Bacon said that science will make all things possible but he forgot to add that all things are not desirable," said Mumford in his lecture "Humanization and Mechanization," last Friday, the opening of the seventh annual lecture series in the Armory here at MPC.

Mr. Mumford's main emphasis was the progressive humanization of the machine as it evolves simultaneously with the dehumanization of man. This is the 300th anniversary of science as visualized by Francis Bacon, a man who foresaw the myth of mechanization as it has evolved today. "And yet an underlying feeling remains that Bacon's dream has not given man his liberation," said Mr. Mumford.

"I'm not a prophet of doom but a prophet of life," he said, adding: "Even if we escape a nuclear catastrophe, if our institutions move in the same direction, within 100 years there will be wholesale contamination of our planet with the total dehumanization of man's self."

"We are subject to a huge bribe that we haven't had the courage to resist," said Mr. Mumford, comparing the bribe with that of Faust. This bribe is to have leisure and wealth never enjoyed before, to ask nothing the machine cannot produce, to do all by machinery, do nothing in small amounts, do nothing by hand and make nothing to last.

"If we can't replace the machines' purposes with human purposes, we are victims of the things we've created," he warned.

"The time has come to abandon the nuclear age and throw our arms open to the age of mothers. "We need love," was one of his last appeals.

Mr. Mumford, introduced as a generalist in this age of specialists, attended New York City College, New York University and Columbia University. He has never accepted a degree because of its limitations. He has taught at University of Pennsylvania, Stanford and is presently at the University of California, Berkeley.

Of his 20 or more books, the most recent is The City in History—Its Transformations and Its Prospects.

Pictured above is the new creative arts center, which will be ready for occupancy during the spring semester. The new center will include a music building and an art building. Both buildings conform to the architecture of the rest of the campus buildings. Pictured at right is the new swimming pool, which will be completed by November, according to the contractor.

Huber Outlines Plans For 1961-62 College Year Here

By PAT WHITE

"MPC students this fall seem to be even more serious-minded than those we've had in the past!" President Huber said in an interview last week.

Dr. Huber emphasized that students should keep in mind that their off-campus activities reflect not only on their homes and community but on MPC as well. He expressed the hope that students' actions in the community this year would be a credit to the college.

"We encourage all our students to take full advantage of the facilities and faculty available here at MPC. The faculty members here are unusually talented and well-educated. Besides, they're interesting people," he commented.

Dr. Huber explained the actions taken by the Board of Trustees at its last meeting. The Board directed the faculty master plan committee to submit by January 1, 1962, a revised master plan for completion of the campus. Construction according to this plan, if approved, will continue during the next five years to accommodate an estimated 2500 students in 1966.

The Board also approved employment of the San Francisco firm of Owings, Skidmore, and Merrill to develop a land use survey, also to be submitted by January 1, 1962. The survey will include recommendations for effective use of the present campus and of 20 acres adjacent under consideration for purchase.

A citizens' committee will be set up to study and approve the plan. The committee is expected to call for a bond election in April or May to finance completion of the construction. The Creative Arts Center and swimming pool will not be included in this bond issue because financing for them has already been arranged.

Also under consideration by the master plan committee is a tentative plan to borrow from the Federal Government to remodel the Student Union.

"Of course, all construction will be planned to preserve the unusual beauty of the MPC campus," Dr. Huber added.

MPC to Host Two October Conferences

The MPC campus will be host to two conferences involving junior colleges of Northern California next month.

On Oct. 21 the Northern Regional Junior College Student Government Association Conference will be held here. It will be a one-day conference.

One week later, on Oct. 28, MPC and Hartnell Junior College of Salinas will co-host the Regional Conference, Journalism Association of Junior Collegs, on this campus. It is also a one-day conference.

Representatives from most junior colleges in the northern part of the state are expected for both conferences.

Registration Mixer Opens Fall MPC Social Season

The Monterey Peninsula College social calendar got underway Saturday night, as over half the student body filled the armory for the annual Registration Mixer. The dance followed the well attended President's Reception.

Music was furnished by Tom Russo's four piece combo.

Fall Enrollment 1,320 Students

"The student enrollment has increased ten per cent each previous year, and this year is no exception," said MPC president Dr. Frederick R. Huber, during his annual convocation speech last Friday.

"There are now 1,320 students enrolled and many more are expected in the future. New classrooms, buildings and facilities are needed to take care of this increase. These are slowly being provided what with the addition of a new art gallery, a swimming pool, a theater and more parking space. By 1966 or 1967, we hope all necessary building will be completed."

President Huber continued to explain the role that students can play in this program. "Students can get the most out of the opportunities afforded them here at MPC by understanding and utilizing what they are taught."

He went on to say that "a junior college is a unique situation, and also one of the most important phases that come into the system of higher education in fifty years. Here at MPC, we are trying to explore, experiment and create, in terms of the best way to teach students what they should and want to know via the most helpful media."

Lindberg Is President Of MPC Freshman Class

The freshman class has elected as its new officers Doug Lindberg, president, Bill Twibell, vice-president and Sandy Canada, secretary.

Other nominations for the presidency included Allan Hasellkorn and Randy Newton. Nominated for vice-president were Skip Bemis, Ellen Dahle and Bob Atkins. Linda Schmalz, Carolyn Martin, Noreen Bruno, Sharon Predmore and Ellen Merryfield were candidates for secretary.

More than 300 freshmen were present at the class meeting, held Thursday morning, September 14, in the Armory.

Editorial

Wary the Word for Frosh

Apprehensive, shy, and even insecure, are words that describe MPC freshmen, who are being exposed to various aspects of college, especially the social life, for the first time.

College has a great deal to offer socially and it seems unfortunate that the first impression should be overshadowed with this attitude of wariness.

While this feeling should not be taken too seriously, neither should it be ignored. The normal apprehension for college popularity and acceptance puts freshmen in a better frame of mind at the beginning of school to focus on the main and basic task of college—to learn. The student who is sure of himself and rushing into various activities is inclined to worry less about his studies.

Letters

ASMPC Cards

To the Editor:

Last Friday evening, Lewis Mumford warned against the infringment on our lives by "machine systems." These are systems which we have been used to for so long that they run without the human element.

A good example of this "machinization" is the imposing of the student body card on students. There is no regulation which says that you must buy the card.

However, the evil lies not so much in the forced sales as in the lack of value received for value given. Are you really getting $12 of value? All right, so you have already bought the "pig in the poke." The next step is to at least get your value from it.

Should $1,500 go for scholarships? Are the social affairs worth $1,960? What are the student government affairs which cost $3,163? Are inter-collegiate sports worth $15,000? What is your $34,347 being spent for, and is it worth it?

Are you running the machine, or is the machine running you?

Election Protest

To the Election Committee,
Executive Council, ASMPC

We, the undersigned, feeling that the above mentioned Election Committee erred in the processes of Freshman class election on the fourteenth of September nineteen sixty one, do hereby protest said elections on the following grounds; a) violation of Article VII, Section 2 of the Constitution of ASMPC, in that no candidate filed the required petitions for nomination, b) violation of Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution of ASMPC in that the office of vice president was announced as having no qualifications due to the member not sitting on the Student Council.

As it is the duty of the Vice President to assume such duties as are normally carried out by the President in case of the President's indisposition it is clear that the V.P. must fulfill all qualifications for an office holder in the Student Council, c) no attempt was made to determine the membership in ASMPC of the persons attending the meeting and voting, or the status of the candidates on the same grouds.

SOUND OFF!

By CHAN LAUGHLIN

This space will be devoted periodically to my comments, as ASMPC President, on issues which have arisen in student affairs. This column will not necessarily reflect the views of either the Student or Executive Council on the matter in question but will, it is intended, portray the issue in an objective manner.

The ASMPC last week called class meetings of both the Freshman and Sophomore classes, to elect officers within those classes. The election Committee, composed of members of the Executive Council, entertained nominations from the floor of both assemblies, distributed ballots and tabulated the votes. Results of these elections are reported elsewhere in this issue.

One of the Freshmen, Greg Scherman, felt that the procedure of choosing strangers for representative posts, within minutes of their having been introduced to their constituents, was basically wrong, and that any election thus held should be contested.

In a protest petition, circulated by himself and other students of like persuasion, Scherman challenged the validity of the election on three counts. The petition was presented to the Executive Council which disallowed the protest on all three counts.

Basically the Executive Council felt that the present election procedure, was leaving much to be desired, did in spirit fulfill provisions of the constitution. The points brought out in the petition, it was felt, were technicalities which did not, in themselves, negate the strong plurality registered in the election.

In view of the controversial nature of this issue, I feel that an objective description of the events will benefit the student body. Insofar as I am able I have rendered such a description. If you wish to express your opinion your letters are invited, either to the editor of El Yanqui or myself, care of this column.

Norum Ends VP Term To Take Over as Prexy

Roger Norum, whose term as vice president was one of the shortest in history, is now Sophomore class president.

At its election meeting last week the Sophomore class elected Pete Osborne as class president, Roger Norum as vice president and Garlyn Robinson as secretary-treasurer.

However, later in the day, Pete learned he had been accepted for enrollment in the University of California at Santa Barbara and dropped out of MPC.

Executive Council Statement

Rejects Protest Petition In Freshman Class Vote

As the elected executive branch of the student government at Monterey Peninsula College, it is our duty to interpret the constitution, both in letter and in spirit, for the mediation of disputes. It is in this posture that we have disallowed the petition filed in reference to the Freshman Class election of Sept. 14.

Specifically, we find the first objection to be based upon incomplete reference to the By-Laws and Election Code. The Code (Art. II, Section I, part A) specifically provides for nomination from the floor.

As to the second objection, it was felt that the explanatory comments by the Election Committee Representative were sufficiently explicit in their provision for the ascension to the class presidency by the Vice-President in time of emergency. Since the office itself carries no duties, the qualification of the candidate need not be determined until such emergency arises.

The third objection registered, that of the determination of ASMPC membership, involved an evaluation by the Executive Council of the spirit of the proceedings. The somewhat informal procedure was initiated in order to expedite the formation of student government in order to commence the affairs of the semester. It was decided that the assumption of ASMPC membership was justified since only a very small portion of the day enrollment are non-members of ASMPC.

In denying this petition the Executive Council wishes to comment that the petition itself was in order, and our denial does not, in any way, reflect upon those who initiated the petition, or those who signed it. It is precisely such attention to the affairs of Student Government that marks a healthy attitude on the part of the Student Body and indicates the growing student awareness of which so much has been said.

Architect Richard Neutra Next on Lecture Series

By MADELINE DIAZ

Last week kicked off the first in a series of lectures and critiques sponsored by the Evening Division at MPC.

Following Lewis Mumford's speech on "Mechanization vs. Humanization" last Friday, is a lecture by Richard Neutra, well-known architect. Mr. Neutra will lecture on "The Human Setting on Earth," Oct. 6, in the Armory at 8 p.m.

Mr. Neutra is considered one of the pioneers who changed the architecture of the United States in the Twentieth Century. He has written several books, of which Survival Through Design and Life and Human Habitat are the best known.

The Evening Division will again host a well known personality on Dec. 8. Aldous Huxley will deliver a lecture on "Visionary Experience." Mr. Huxley gained early fame through his satirical novels and short stories. Among his works are Chrome Yellow, Antic Hay, Point Counter Point, Brave New World, Eyeless in Gaza, Eminence and the Devil, and Brave New World Revisited.

Among these books, Huxley has received greatest acclaim for Brave New World, which depicts a repulsive Utopia.

Following Mr. Huxley will be J. Robert Oppenheimer, who will speak on "Some Aspects of Science and Culture," on March 2. Mr. Oppenheimer is an American physicist who was director of the atomic energy research project in New Mexico from 1942-1945. Later he became chairman of the general advisory committe of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission and director of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J.

Returning to MPC April 25, will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt has previously addressed an overflow crowd here at MPC. At this lecture she will speak on "The Change in the U. S. Picture Over 50 Years."

Mrs. Roosevelt, wife of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is considered by many people First Lady of the United States. She has worked as a lecturer, newspaper and magazine columnist and has been a world-wide traveler.

William Buckley, Jr. will be the last speaker of the Evening Lecture Series. Mr. Buckley, a well known advocate of conservatism, will deliver an address on "The Breakdown of the Intellectuals in Public Affairs," May 4. Mr. Buckley is considered, by the Saturday Review, to be a " . . . polemic on the need for a firmer doctrine on morals and politics in American colleges."

He is editor of The National Review, a magazine that encourages voices of "new conservatism."

Special lectures to be given this semester will be by Milton Mayer and Louis Kelso. Mr. Mayer, author and journalist will expose "The European Resident" Jan. 3 and Jan. 5.

Mayer will speak as a resident of Europe, not a tourist, for he will have settled down to live with the people who must piece together their lives under control by the Soviet Union.

Mr. Kelso will analyze "The Key to Winning the Underdeveloped Economics." He believes that the maximum speed development of the underdeveloped economics can be achieved if their industrialization is financed in such a way as to promote a rapidly growing proprietary base in each of these economies.

The Evening Division is also iniating a new program at the college this year. We will have two visiting lecturers who will be available to the students, faculty and community for a whole week. On the final evening of the lectures, a formal speech will be delivered in the Armory to which the public is invited.

Dr. Sidney Hook, professor of philosophy at New York University, will be on campus from Dec. 11 to Dec. 15. In addition to articles that he has written on philosophy, he has also published these works: Education for Modern Man; Heresy, Yes—Conspiracy, No; Common Sense and the Fifth Amendment.

Visiting lecturer for the Spring Semester will be American author, James Baldwin. He will speak on campus from April 2 to April 6. In addition to his writings which include Go Tell It On the Mountain, Notes of a Native Son, Giovanni's Room and Nobody Knows My Name, Baldwin has held a Partisan Review fellowship, a Guggenheim fellowship, and a Ford Foundation grant.

Outstanding MPC Students Assist at Academy Banquet

Twenty MPC students were among those honored to be chosen as student drivers for the recent Academy of Achievement Banquet of the Golden Rlate.

Students were chosen from high schools and colleges all over northern California to chauffeur the honored guests during the entire weekend that they spent here.

The drivers attended the reception and dinner on Friday night, took part in an afternoon seminar at Asilomar on Saturday, attended the formal Banquet on Saturday night and wrapped up the weekend's activities by going to a breakfast seminar on Sunday.

MPC students who were honored were Steve Crouch, Georgene Dovolis, Mela Ferrer, Duane Giarratana, Renate Henrickson, Charles Hunter, Linda Jasper, Jack Kelleher, Douglas Lindberg, Daniel McTeague, Reed Nessel, Roger Norum, Thomas Paine, Evan Peskin, Cameron Pickett, Maryam Razavi, Philip Stock, John W. Twibell and Midge Young.

There were also seven foreign students from MPC who participated as guests of the Academy. They were Iraj Khalkhali, of Iran; Marie Kwan, of Hong Kong; Katherine Chang, Formosa; Surinder Sehkon, of India; John Razavi, of Iran; Juliet Ng, of Hong Kong and Eduardo Montenegro, of Venezuela.

Magazine Staff to Hold First Meeting Tuesday

The 1961-62 e.g. staff will hold its first meeting at noon next Tuesday in room T-4. Mr. Raymond Fabrizio, faculty advisor for e.g., suggests that those attending the meeting bring their lunches.

e.g., abbreviation for the Latin term "exempli gratia" which means "for example," is a magazine of creative expression published by the Associated Students of Monterey Peninsula College.

Unlike most college literary magazines, e.g. contains only the work of the students here on campus, and has in the past proven to be a notable example of our students' creative work.

Ten New Faculty Faces Here

Ellen Hanson

Kenneth Carlson

Patricia Elliott

Mary Tassey

Milton Bristow

Diane Smith

Velma Young

Richard Frazer

Teruo Ishihara

Ten new faculty members have joined the MPC staff this fall.

Mr. Kenneth Carlson and Mr. Teruo Ishihara are two new additions to the math department. Mr. Carlson received his master's degree at North Texas State, and Mr. Ishihara received his M.A. at San Jose State.

Mr. Kenneth Bristow, also an M. A. degree holder, is the new geology teacher in the science department.

For anyone taking health, Grace Donlin is a familiar face. She is a certified Public Health Nurse.

Richard Frazer is new in the drama department, and has an M. A. from USC.

Patricia Elliott and Diane Smith are two new instructors in the women's physical education department. Miss Elliott has a B.A. from San Jose State, and Miss Smith has a B.A. from the University of Idaho.

Ellen Hanson is the new dental assisting instructor, and is a Certified Dental Assistant. She has studied at the University of California at Berkeley.

Two other new faces on campus are Mary Tassey, the new distributive education coordinator, and Velma Young, home economics instructor. Miss Young received her M.A. at San Jose State.

Approve Manuel Cordova To Fill Council Vacancy

At its second formal meeting of the Fall semester, the ASMPC Executive Council selected a candidate to fill the vacant position of vice president of the student body and appointed six other students to vacancies on the Student Council.

Manuel Cordova, whose name had been submitted for the post, was chosen to fill the vice presidency. His appointment went to the Student Council for confirmation yesterday.

Other appointive offices and the students apopinted thereto are as follows: Property Director, Charles Hunter; Publicity Chairman, Leata Thomas; News Bureau Chairman, Shelley Burrell; Rallies and Assemblies Chairman, Judy Kleiss; Intra-murals Chairman, John Anderson; and Correspondence Secretary, Susan Herrin.

The position of Social Chairman was not filled.

Monterey Jazz Festival Stars Duke Ellington

Such stars as Duke Ellington, Dizzy Gillespie and Carmen McRae will be featured in the fourth annual Monterey Jazz Festival to be held at the Monterey fairgrounds this week end.

Performances begin at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday with matinees at 1:30 Saturday and Sunday.

Holmes and Cameron Head Song, Yell Teams

Madge Holmes will head the song leaders, and Jim Cameron the yell squad at the first game of the 1961 season tomorrow night.

Madge's assistants will include Judy Cowen, Billie Fretsche, Norma Fitzsimmons, Pat Hitchcock and Linda Jones.

Yell leaders working with Cameron will be Judy Kleiss and Leata Thomas. Lee Puryear will call the yells over the mike so that rooters will know the words.

These two crews have spent several hours a week perfecting their routines.

Miss Diane Smith, one of two new PE instructors, advises the group.

Lobos Face Sequoias In Season Opener Tomorrow

By REED NESSEL

"We will go as far this season as our first unit can carry us." This statement by Coach George Porter sums up his outlook for this year's Lobos, the smallest team at MPC since 1953.

"We have an experienced, but light, first unit, and some strength in the second unit, but, all in all, we have little depth," said Porter, "Our success depends upon how long the first unit can last, both through a game and through the season."

"The team has a lot of desire and heart for the game, and there is good ability, but no one to spell the first team," Porter said.

"How do they compare with last year's team? Well, they're lighter, and we're not nearly as deep," said Porter, "but, on the positive side, there's more sprit and we're working more as a team."

The Lobos will open the season tomorrow night against College of Sequoias at the MPC Field. COS will field "about the same team that beat us last year," according to Coach Porter.

Last year, Sequoias jumped off to a big lead and held off a late rally to beat the Lobos 34-26 in the season's opener for both teams.

"They have a lot of veterans, a big line and lots of speed—they're really a fast team," said Porter. "They've gone with three different formations in the last three years," added Porter, "but last year they ran the slot T and I think they'll go with that again."

"They have a fine halfback in Ratley; he's got pretty good size, and he's a sprinter on the track team," said Porter. "Their quarterback is returning too, and he's a fine ballhandler."

"We'll start out with the same type of offense we used last season, but if we're getting overpowered, we'll have to throw the ball," said Porter.

The Lobos were weakened earlier in the week when halfback Jerry Millette and end-halfback Bucky Boyns left the team.

Starting for the Lobos in Saturday night's clash will be: Len Newman and Ron Locicero, ends; Manuel Cordova and Charlie Vaughn, tackles; Rod Clark and Fred Bucher, guards; Finnly Sutton, center; Skip Murry, quarterback; Jerry Colletto and Jerry Hatcher, halfbacks, and Dick Austin, fullback.

Film Series Opens With 'On the Waterfront'

"On the Waterfront" will be the film opening this year's series of films in the Theatre Arts Group. It will be presented Saturday, Sept. 30 in the Armory at 8 p.m.

Starring Marlon Barndo, Eva Marie Saint, Karl Malden, Lee J. Cobb, Rod Steiger and Pat Henning, the film tells the story of life on the New York waterfront and one worker's realization of the corruption and immoralities of his environment.

This film won eight Academy Awards in 1954. The men behind the scenes who were responsible for the production are: Elia Kazan, director; Budd Schulberg, story and screenplay artist; and Leonard Bernstein, music director.

Not only will American films be shown, but also foreign films. The following films are included in the schedule.

The Bicycle Thief (Italy, 1949)—Oct. 21.

Day of Wrath (Denmark, 1943)—Dec. 1.

Pather Panchali (India. 1956)—Jan. 12.

The Quiet One (U.S.A., 1948)—Jan. 26.

Arsenal (Russia, 1929)—Feb. 2.

Forbidden Games (France, 1958)—March 30.

Richard III (England, 1955)—April 13.

Ugetsu (Japan, 1954)—May 18.

The Seventh Seal (Sweden, 1956)—June 8.

All films will be shown free to the public in the Armory at 8 p.m. on dates indicated.

El Yanqui Staff Bigger Than Ever

"El Yanqui is starting off with the largest staff in its history," said Rod Holmgren, El Yanqui advisor, this week.

Acting managing editor is Reed Nessel. Working closely with him will be Frank McConnell, page 1 editor, and Madeline Diaz, copy editor.

Photography will be handled by George Ow and Evan Peskin. Harry Shaw is business manager.

Anyone wishing to work on the paper will be welcome, Mr. Holmgren said.

Jobs Give Units Work Experience

Twenty five students are enrolled in the distributive education program this semester. This is operated as work experience for students enrolled in Salesmanship, Retailing or Marketing.

"The purpose is to get some practical experience," said Miss Mary Tassey, co-ordinator of the program. Miss Tassey teaches a weekly lab or control class dealing with common job problems.

Dean Smith Back After Leave, Studies at BYU

By DIANE DRENNON

Ralph Smith, Dean of Students, describes his registration day experience at Brigham Young University, "I was just another body like everybody else." He was one of 13,000 students who registered at BYU that day.

Dean Smith is back at MPC now after his 8-months' sabbatical leave, during which he completed the units needed for his doctorate in education. When his dissertation is completed, the Smith family may have a doctor in the house, he said.

On being asked how it felt to take notes instead of lecturing, Dean Smith commented, " I never enjoyed myself so much." Even though he took advanced courses in psychology, philosophy, administration and education, he said, "just being a student was a lot of fun."

After getting set in school, Dean Smith and his family took a vacation trip to Montana, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Yellowstone and Teton National Park.

Dean Smith came back to Monterey convinced that there is a great deal of beauty in the United States, more than most people realize. He admits that it's "kind of hard to come back."

Bowling Party to Mark Beginning of Intramurals

Intramural bowling will get under way next Tuesday, Sept. 26, with a free bowling party open to all students.

The party will be held at the Monterey Lanes starting at 4 p.m. Sign-ups will be taken then for the bowling leagues which will begin the following Monday, Oct. 2.

There will be two leagues, one at 11 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the other on Thursday afternoons at 4 p.m.

JV's Blank San Benito, Dotson Scores Twice

MPC's JV team whipped San Benito JC 24-0 last Friday night in Hollister.

Coach Porter opened with Skip Murry at quarterback, and Skip scored the first touchdown on an eight yard keeper play off right tackle. The score was set up by a timely pass interception by Gary Smith. The conversion attempt fell short, and the Lobos led 6-0.

The score went to 12-0 when Jim Dotson went wide around left end for five yards and a touchdown. This drive was engineered mainly by freshman quarterback Frank Bucher, who moved the Lobos through the air with some fine passing.

A San Benito punt which carried only to their 21 yard line gave the Lobos another opportunity, and they were quick to capitalize on it as Dotson again swept end for the touchdown from five yards out.

With only seconds remaining, San Benito fumbled on their own 1, the Lobos recovered and quarterback Gary Smith rolled out around right end for the touchdown on the first play.

The Lobos offense looked good once they got untracked. The ground game, engineered by Murry and led by Dotson, ground out considerable yardage. The passing attack, resting mainly on freshman quarterback Frank Bucher, was also effective.

The defense shut out the San Benito eleven almost entirely, never allowing them inside the Lobos thirty yard line.

Varsity Wins in Intersquad Game

By STEVE HOVER

Much spirit and aggressiveness were demonstrated during the annual inter-squad game as the Maroons scored a decisive 26-6 victory over the Whites.

Jerry Colletto, the diminutive 5' 7", 155 pound Monterey High graduate, was the outstanding ball carrier of the scrimmage. Jerry seemed to score at will as he broke loose for touchdown runs of 48 and 71 yards and then pulled in an 80 yard pass-run combination thrown by quarterback Frank Bucher.

The Whites, outmatched by the veteran Maroon squad, made vigorous efforts against the varsity. Engineered by hard working quarterback Gary Smith and elusive halfback Jerry Hatcher, the Whites were able to keep the Maroons on their toes.

It was Smith to Hatcher combination which enabled the Whites to score their only touchdown.

Coach George Porter was pleased with the leadership of starting quarterbacks Skip Murry and Gary Smith and the passing of Frank Bucher and Gary Hixon. He tabbed Finnly Sutton, Charlie Vaughn and Fred Bucher as the outstanding linemen of the game.

Porter also lauded Joey Olaeta, a member of the White squad, for his 42 yard punting average.

Five Out For Cross-Country

With only three returnees from last year's Coast Conference championship cross-country team, the outlook for this year's harriers is not as bright as it could be, according to Coach Luke Phillips.

Returning from last year's team are Mike Mullany, Matt Tielemans and Millburn Barrett. Newcomers to the team are George Ow and Jim Franco.

The runners are working out every afternoon for their first meet, which will be at San Jose, Oct. 6.
